Bird-of-the-day Yellow-billed Cuckoo (at eye level)!!

Good evening Birders:

15 of us met today at Marjorie A. Hoy Memorial Park at Orange Lake Overlook (HOY on eBird lists)

It was quite windy at 8:00am but improved as we walked down the grassy walking path. Everyone agreed that the venue is fabulous and they will visit it again. We tallied 44 species although I have one little bird that I can still not ID. We should keep checking HOY's eBird site although it appears that Fall birding is better than it is in the Spring. HOY should be very good for Sparrows in the Winter.

Thank you, everyone, for joining our birding fun today and our BBQ lunch after! I hope to see you at our Village Birders' Monthly Meeting on Saturday, 10/19, at Lake Okahumpka Rec Center at 9:00am. Anyone who has a Villages or guest ID is welcome. Check our website for future events: www.villagebirders.org
