All,

Today 14 Birders saw 42 species at Carney Island.

The rain came early in the morning and it looked like this walk might be canceled but it stopped by 7 and by 8 we were at the Carney Island boat launch; the sun was peeking out and we were getting great views of Goldfinch. It turned out to be glorious day for birding. We birded around the parking lot for the first hour where there was constant sighting. Bob Martin and Mike Bready had scopes and we were able to get some good views of birds on the water. We left the parking area and took the Fern Loop trail. We were treated to sightings of Northern Paula and Red Bellied Woodpeckers then halfway around the trail we were delighted by a clear view of a Whit-Eyed Vireo singing his best songs.
